

Building, Operating, and Managing Neighborhood Product Convenience Centers

Cura Resource Group is a full-service supply chain firm with expertise in building and managing sales centers. Our firm facilitates expansion into physical locations without the traditional investment in real estate and location development. By providing a local pick-up option for customers, we enable our clients to address costly delivery problems and capitalize on missed opportunities in major urban markets.

Why Cura?

Our rich portfolio of services combines the strongest assets of both online and brick-and-mortar sales. When location and brand reputation matter, we set our retailers apart.

Reduce Your Costs

Cut your retail overhead and labor costs. We manage all the details of building and running your sales center.

Enhance Delivery Service

Secure and convenient pick-up sites bring your customers with "undeliverable" addresses back into the fold.

Accelerate Response Time

Get your hottest products to your customers quicker and reduce delivery expenses by having cost-efficient sales centers in your growth markets.

Receive Expert Advice

Our experienced, professional team can take your facility from idea to fully operational in less than six months.

Build Brand Awareness

Give your products a trusted brick-and-mortar presence in your prime markets. Grow your brand with consistent, personalized service.

Elevate Customer Experience

Our bi-lingual, local customer service teams keep your customers coming back by providing exceptional customer service.
